

Why Command Credit Is the Leader in Self-Serve Business Credit Reports

Why Command Credit Is the Leader in Self-Serve Business Credit Reports

Pulling business credit reports on new customers, existing customers, and suppliers can help protect your cash flow and supply chain. By monitoring their credit, you can get an early warning if a company's financial situation deteriorates before it impacts your business.

Command Credit provides you with the best business credit reports and makes the process easy and affordable. Here are just some of the reasons Command Credit is the industry leader in self-service business credit reports.

Variety of Business Credit Report Options

Deciding which business credit report to use and which business credit reporting agency to pick can be confusing. However, there is a better way. At Command Credit, we offer a variety of self-serve business credit reports from:

- Experian
- Equifax
- Dun & Bradstreet
- Trans Union
- Credit Reports World

This allows you to choose the best business credit reports for your needs.

Deep, Accurate Insight

Our business credit reports track more than 27 million businesses and use trade and public record information collected from third-party vendors which accurately reflect a company's payment profile. More than 330 million tradelines are processed annually.

Information is updated continuously, so you can feel confident about making business decisions using current information and the best business credit report available.

An Independent Assessment

The information a business provides may not provide a complete picture of a company's financial health. Customers often share credit references with accounts with which they are in good standing, but they probably do not share accounts that are past due, delinquent or in collections.

The best business credit report provides an analysis of business tradelines, current credit usage, historical credit usage, and any derogatory public filing that may affect a company's creditworthiness. Besides an overall business credit score, you can also get insight into a company's ability to pay its bills on time and recommendations on credit limits.

Better Prices

Since we produce such a high volume of business credit reports for our customers, we receive volume discounts from the business credit reporting agencies. This means we can keep our costs low and pass those savings on to you.

Faster Results

Getting new customers to fill out a credit application and provide accurate information can be difficult. Even when they provide the information you need, it can take days to contact credit references to verify accuracy. A business credit report from Command Credit gives you all the information you need without the wait.

Self-Serve Sign Up

Whether you are a credit manager, business manager or small business owner, you can get business credit reports instantly by going to CommandCredit.net. View samples of the different business credit reports and sign up for a subscription that provides ongoing credit information so you can continually protect your business.

Available Report Specialists

While you can use our self-serve options, we have trained specialists who are dedicated to helping you maximize your credit investment. They can walk you through the various business credit reports and subscriptions that are available to help you pick the right ones for your business.

Integrated Credit Solutions

Command Credit also offers several services to make your credit decisions easier. We provide application processing systems in a data-agnostic ASP environment. This allows you to make automated credit decisions based on customized underwriting parameters. You can also create customized reporting formats to support your underwriting needs. We also provide credit data in a real-time XML feed to input into your internal or outsourced underwriting or collections platform.

Portfolio Monitoring

We provide an objective third-party evaluation of your accounts receivable portfolio to help you better understand the internet risk levels of your portfolio. You can also receive warning notifications when a customer's financial assessment changes, including:

- Derogatory payment information, such as account write-offs
- Increasing late payment trends, such as paying 1-2 days later than industry norms
- Significantly late payments, such as behavior in the bottom 30% of industry businesses
- New-and continuously reported trade lines with details of the past due amount
- Public record filings, such as tax liens, judgments, or bankruptcies
- Uniform Commercial Code (UCC) filings indicating collateral has been pledged
- Tradelines turned over for collections by a collection agency

If you are looking for the best business credit reports, Command Credit offers a variety of business credit report products from the top business credit reporting agencies. This helps you target prospective customers, manage customer relationships, and identify opportunities for profitable growth in a manner that fits your company's individual needs.

Contact Command Credit for the Best Business Credit Reports

For more information about business credit reports, check out our self-serve options, call Client Service at 800.676.9705, or have one of our representatives contact you about a subscription.

CommandCredit.com/accredit

Search and Select Business Credit Reports